This condition raised the storm. Endowments would be useful for the university and the hospital, but was there not in them a menace of a loss of control of the institutions? Only the fear inspired by the Ameri-

The proposition was laid before the Board of Missions by Bishop Graves, of Shanghai, and the Rev. Dr. F. L. Hawkes, president of St. John's University. They thought that acceptance of the offer would not interfere with the administration of the institutions, but would unify the Christian spirit in China.

What Is the Gary Plan?

By ALICE BARROWS FERNANDEZ

Tribune readers will find in this department a clear and authoritative account of the Wirt school system, proposed for this city. Questions of parents and teachers will be gladly answered. The department will appear on Mondays and Thursdays.

WHAT THE WIRT PLAN DOES. It takes children off the streets and keeps them wholesomely busy at work, study and play for six or seven hours a day. It gives all children just as much scademic work as the traditional school, but by lengthening the school day it gives time for practical shop work, science, drawing, music, auditorium and play for all children.

WHAT THE WIRT PLAN MEANS. his child the enriched educations opportunities usually reserved for the children of the favored few.

To teachers-No more hours teaching; more congenial work. To the community-Better citisens, better schools for less cost.

Traditional School Autocratic-Gary Plan Democratic Gives Each Child Individual Attention-Appreciates "When a Feller Needs a Friend."

In a recent communication to The Tribune on the Gary plan, a writer who signs himself "An American" protests that:

Three o'clock is quite time for children to be at home. I think parents have some rights to manage their own children and arrange their recreation. Responsibility rests with the parents and cannot be usurped by any other authority. No outside authority can dictate to parents how they shall manage their families. This Gary stuff may do for some, but hands off American homes. We send our children to the public school five days a week from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m.; the rest of the time they are to be at home and no system shall have anything to say. Time enough for them to buy and sell when school days are over and they must face the business world.

TRADITIONAL SCHOOL AUTOCRATIC

Apparently the most difficult thing for the average person to undertand about the Wirt plan is that it is literally true that under this plan stand about the Wirt plan is that it is literally true that under this plan parents may have any kind of school that they want for their children. As a matter of fact, it is only under the Wirt plan that parents do have "the right to manage their own children and arrange their recreations and other activities."

Under the traditional school system "an outside authority (the school) the fact, it is plan that parents do have "the three story and basement private which is to erect two four story span dwelling, 142 West 92d st., 19.6x100 ment houses, each 50x107. did dictate to parents how they should manage their families." The school told the parents that they must send their children to school at 9 o'clock, neither before nor after; that they could not have them again until 3 o'clock except for one hour at luncheon, and that at 3 o'clock they must take their children whether they wanted to or not, or send them to libraries already overcrowded, with lines of children a block long waiting to get in, or to playgrounds overflowing with a surplus of children. Gary Plan Gives Parents Any Kind of School They Want.

The Wirt schools, on the contrary, are organized in the belief that the public school has no right to be so autocratic. Why should all children be forced to come to school at 9 a. m., neither before nor after? Some parents would like to have their children in school by 8:30 in the morning. We know many in New York City who would be glad to have their children taken care of at an earlier hour in the morning. "An American" is evidently not one of them, but under the Gary plan there would be no necesglad to have their children under the supervision of the school until brought me in contact with hundreds of such parents who are distressed because their children must be on the streets in the afternoon while they are away at work. Other fathers and mothers would prefer to have their children leave school as early as 2:30 p. m., so that they could take private music lessons or some other outside activity. Or, there are still others who would find it more convenient to keep their children home for such activities for the first hour after lunch or before lunch.

There is absolutely no reason why all these parents should not be satisfied under the Gary plan. "But that is absurd," we are told. "It is impossible to give every child an individual programme that suits his
